The Governor further stated that enforcement will not be heavy-handed, and if “a local retail store stays open, there will be a friendly reminder that the governor has an executive order that you should be closed.”	<input type="checkbox"/> Criminal penalties: The order cites to enforcement under 20 Del. C. §§ 3115 (b), 3116 (9), 3122, and 3125, and states that failure to comply with the order shall constitute a criminal offense and shall be enforced by state and local law enforcement.	<input type="checkbox"/> Civil penalties, although guidance is not yet clear: No formal guidance is yet available on liabilities for violations, but press statements indicate that the order will be enforced with civil fines and citations, as well as potential mandatory closures for any businesses who violate or are not in compliance.	<input type="checkbox"/> Criminal penalties: The order provides that penalties for violations may be imposed under among other statutes, N.J.S.A. App. A:9-49 and -50. N.J.S.A. App. A:9-49 provides penalties for violations as disorderly conduct, which could result in imprisonment for a term not to exceed 6 months or a fine not to exceed $1,000.00, or to both a fine and imprisonment, in the discretion of the court. N.J.S.A. App. A:9-50 provides penalties as an aider or abettor, which shall be penalized in the same manner as the violation aided or abetted (i.e., imprisonment for a term not to exceed 6 months or a fine not to exceed $1,000.00, or to both a fine and imprisonment, in the discretion of the court.)	<input type="checkbox"/> Civil penalties: The order cites enforcement under section 12 of the Public Health Law, which provides that “any person who violates, disobeys or disregards any term or provision of this chapter or of any lawful notice, order or regulation pursuant thereto for which a civil penalty is not otherwise expressly prescribed by law, shall be liable to the people of the state for a civil penalty of not to exceed $2,000 for every such violation...[This penalty] may be increased to an amount not to exceed $5,000 for a subsequent violation if the person committed the same violation, with respect to the same or any other person or persons, within 12 months of the initial violation for which a penalty was assessed...and said violations were a serious threat to the health and safety of an individual or individuals...[This penalty] may be increased to an amount not to exceed $10,000 if the violation directly results in serious physical harm to any patient or patients”.	<input type="checkbox"/> Criminal penalties: The State’s FAQ sheet on the order cites enforcement under the Disease Control and Prevention Law of 1955 and the Administrative Code of 1929, noting that closures are enforceable through criminal penalties. Press statements also state that criminal prosecution is a possibility, with violators subject to fines or imprisonment, in addition to license suspensions or other administrative action.
